

Literature Circle Notes: Connector

---

Name _____ Text name _____

Connector: Your job is to connect what you are reading with other things you know from other classes, readings, or the outside world. You can also connect with events in your own life or the world outside as depicted in the news or other media. Connections should be meaningful to you and those in your group.

Sample notes – include some or all of the following below.

- What ideas or events seem similar to things you know about people?
- What other characters or people you know about would act the way characters do in this story?
- What descriptions of the world or the things in it seem familiar to what you know or you've read about before? What makes that connection important?
- What other books, movies, stories, television shows come to mind?
- How does this selection relate to those that came before it?
- What is the connection that no one else but you can discover?

Based on the ideas identified from today's reading selection, write sample discussion questions that relate events and ideas in the book to other texts, the world outside school or your life. These should be questions without simple answers.>>>>>>

---

Reading selection: page _____ to page _____

---

Connection I found _____

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Connection I found _____

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Connection I found _____

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Here you should make a prediction, offer commentary and/or reflect on what you've read so far. (Use the back if necessary.)